DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following:

- in line 16, "a" is missing before "chamber".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 56-61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Westberg et al. (U.S. 7,195,607). It is noted that these claims are not in combination with a liquid treatment machine, which is an intended use, as well as the claimed positioning of the cassettes. Westberg teaches at least two cassettes (figure 7 and figure 35) each having unique portions including chambers and regions without chambers [as in claim 56]. The cassettes can be disposed of and can be used for different treatments [as in claims 57-60]. Both also include recesses that could be used to center [as in claim 61].

Art Unit: 1797

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claim 62 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Westberg in view of Robinson et al. (U.S. 6,695,803). Robinson teaches cassettes that include a bar code (col. 13, lines 66+). It is considered that it would have been obvious to one ordinarily skilled in the art at the time of the invention to have the barcodes of Robinson on the cassettes of Westberg, since Robinson teaches the benefit of identifying the correct blood processing procedure for that cassette.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1-15, 29 and 31-55 are allowed.

7. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The closest cited art—fails to anticipate or render obvious, alone or in any proper combination, the liquid treatment machine in combination with the claimed first and second cassettes, wherein the liquid treatment machine is adapted so that the first actuator and not the second actuator is operated when the first cassette is disposed in the compartment of the machine and both the first and second actuators are operated when the second cassette is disposed in the compartment of the machine—in combination with all the other limitations of claims 1 and also in claim 38.
